

STREETLITE PEOPLE

About the Band

Streetlite People are a brandnew 80s partyrock band for 2026, built from musicians with serious pedigree. The lineup features members from LA80, the Northwest's biggest 80s rock party band of the last twenty years - a band famous for having crowds singing louder than the PA - and The ReWinders, the UK's top femalefronted 80s pop tribute. Streetlite People are perfectly placed to carry that legacy forward, bringing the same atmosphere, the same energy and the same "whole room singing" moments into a brandnew show.

Their nights are loud, lively and unapologetically fun. Huge choruses, iconic riffs, shimmering synths and packed dancefloors define the Streetlite People experience. Promoters and venues have already described them as "the best at what they do", and it's easy to see why: they perform the 80s the way people remember it - big, bold, warm and full of life.

With soaring vocals, melodic guitar work, authentic keys, tight harmonies and a rhythm section built for big nights, Streetlite People recreate the sound and spirit of the decade entirely live. No tracks. No gimmicks. Just five musicians who know how to work a room and deliver a proper 80s party.

Long Bio / Promoter Summary

LONG BIO

Streetlite People launch in 2026 as a fresh, high-energy 80s partyrock band built from some of the most experienced musicians on the Northwest circuit. The lineup includes members from LA80, the region's biggest 80s rock party band for over two decades - a band known for having crowds singing louder than the PA - and The ReWinders, the UK's top femalefronted 80s pop tribute. Streetlite People are ready to cash in on that legacy, bringing the same atmosphere, the same energy and the same "whole room singing" moments into a brandnew show.

Their identity is rooted in everything that made 80s rock unforgettable: big hooks, big choruses, big synths and big nights. Streetlite People specialise in the decade's most iconic anthems - the Bon Jovi singalongs, the Journey and Foreigner megamelodies, the Whitesnake and REO Speedwagon power moments, the punch and attitude of Pat Benatar, the raw edge of Patti Smith, the guitarhero flair of Rainbow and the unmistakable theatrical energy of Queen. These are the songs that still fill rooms, spark nostalgia and get entire crowds singing.

What makes Streetlite People stand out is the way they deliver it. Every part of the show is performed live - no backing tracks, no shortcuts, no filler. The band's musicianship is matched by their chemistry, humour and ability to read a room.
